Sustainability  Mövenpick Hotel Egerkingen.

Sustainability our common future.

Doing the right thing today to safeguard our tomorrows: it is one of prime objectives here at the Mövenpick Hotel Egerkingen. As members of Green Globe, we have made sustainability and environmental protection part of the way we think and go about our daily business.

The Mövenpick Hotel Egerkingen currently has 113 employees working in a variety of roles. Around 43,000 guests stay with us every year. We welcome 270,000 guests to the seminar, restaurant and bar areas annually. These figures alone are an indication of the amount of energy we consume.

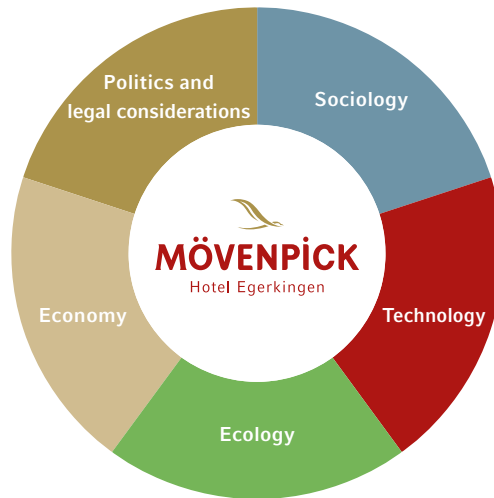

Our employees have all attended workshops designed to improve existing measures. Our quest for sustainability includes environmental, quality, health and safety aspects, as well as social commitment.

Ute Dirks

Our company our environment.

Our sustainability management system is founded on five spheres.

Economy

We aim for long-term economic success by organizing our operations for optimum results while developing innovative products and services.

Ecology

Operational environment protection (measures to save energy and water, waste separation, mobility, legal compliance, etc.). Our aim is to promote local art and environmental organizations. We undertake to inform our guests about our natural surroundings. Our sustainability management system complies with the requirements of Kora and the Swiss Wildlife Association for the protection of animals living in the wild. On the land that belongs to the hotel we plant only plants and trees that are indigenous to Switzerland. We do so because we wish to prevent foreign pests and exotic fauna from getting a foothold in our territory. In doing so, we comply with the recommendations of the NVE. The products we use in the hotel come from sustainable sources designed to protect endangered fauna and flora. The company has a long-term (five-year) plan of action outlining measures and deadlines for the reduction of CO2 emissions. All this is contained in our existing Quality Management System. Apart from this, employees at the Mövenpick Hotel Egerkingen are actively encouraged to submit ideas and suggestions regarding: Green Globe, customer services, profitability enhancement, product improvements, environmental protection, culture and working processes. In order to correct unsatisfactory results, we hold meeting to determine plans of action and training courses. Internal checks are also conducted to ensure that they are implemented. Systematic control guarantees ongoing improvement. Apart from this, the Hotel is totally encompassed by a conservation area.

Sociology

Employees' interests (job security, health promotion and safety in the workplace, basic and further training, the encouragement of innovation and suggestions, a wide range of opportunities for personal development, family support, flexitime, etc.)

Politics and legal considerations

Product responsibility and consumer protection. Working conditions and environmental protection in the case of suppliers. Perception of social/ethical responsibility (contributions to value added, measures against corruption, compliance with human rights legislation etc.) We comply with legal requirements applicable to patents, brands and designs. The company is opposed to the abuse of intellectual property copyright.
